

Water tight

Rebecca Hossack Art Gallery transports visitors to the arid desert of indigenous Australia where the Walmajarri people have hunted out hidden water sources as a means of survival for generations. Jumu: Artists of Fitzroy Crossing presents a series of bright paintings of secret water holes by Jukuna Mona Chuguna, which document the landscape and traditions of the tribespeople.

Until 6 August, 28 Charlotte Street WIT (with a group exhibition continuing throughout August at 2a Conway Street), rebeccahossack.com

JUKANA MANA CHUGUNA, JUMUJARRA, TWO WATERHOLES, 2010, COURTESY OF THE ARTIST, MANGKAJA ARTS RESOURCE AGENCY ABORIGINAL CORPORATION AND THE REBECCA HOSSACK ART GALLERY