

Through Saturday, April 29

Rob Tucker, Lemon Cheesecake is Nice (2016). Courtesy the artist and Rebecca Hossack Gallery.

15. “Lemon Cheesecake is Nice” at Rebecca Hossack Gallery

This is the last week to check out the group show at Rebecca Hossack’s NY outpost, nestled in Soho. The show includes works that investigate the still-life genre, bringing bright color and graphic lines to an otherwise static scene. The gallery has a robust cache of Aboriginal artwork from artisans who articulate the gritty-desert landscape of Australia into swirling grids, as interpretations of native Dreamtime stories that traverse the culture. Juxtaposed with the abstracted canvases are the small scale ‘yogi’s’ of Katherine Virgils, amalgamations of illuminated manuscripts and shrine-like altarpieces.

Location: Rebecca Hossack Gallery, 262 Mott Street

Price: Free

Time: Tuesday–Saturday 11 a.m.–7 p.m.; Sunday, 12 p.m.–7 p.m.

—Caroline Goldstein

Follow artnet News on Facebook.